D&M Holdings Selected to Supply Portable Digital Recorder to Japanese Supreme Court

Tokyo, Japan – March 19, 2008—D&M Holdings Inc. (TSE 1: 6735) announced today that it has been selected by the Japanese Supreme Court to supply 1,000 Marantz Professional portable solid state recorders known as the PMD660. D&M's commitment to the commercial recording market is driven by innovation and the ability to provide large scale and compact solutions. The Marantz Professional PMD660 is a digital recorder often used by news and court reporters and produces high quality recordings for broadcast.

"We are very pleased that D&M has been selected as the recording equipment supplier for the Japanese Supreme Court," said Chairman and Chief Executive Officer Eric C. Evans. "We believe the PMD660 is capable of meeting the recording functions at the Supreme Court where high sound quality and reliability is required. As a company, we are committed to providing reliable recording solutions for commercial use and to serving our customers with products that fit their needs. This vote of confidence by Japan's highest court is very gratifying."

The PMD660 meets the increasing demand for affordable digital recording with superior sound quality, ease of use and reliability. It records on a CompactFlash[®] media card or micro drive, fits in the palm of a hand, records in several broadcast formats and can mark the recording for future tracking. The PMD660 has won several awards from industry publications and recommendations from customers.
